Kidnapers' Victim Former Arkansan

Alexander Berg, St. Louis, Brother of Well Known Camden Banker

CAMDEN.—Alexander Berg, St. Louis, fur dealer who was kidnaped Friday night, is a brother of Henry L. Berg of Camden, president of the First National Bank. Alexander Berg was born and reared in Camden, leaving here about 20 years ago. Much concern for his safety is felt here.

Family Concerned ST. LOUIS.—(P)—Police and friends of Alexander Berg, 57-year-old president of the Hill Fur company here, who was kidnaped Friday evening as he was being driven home by his negro chauffeur, still were seeking to find a trace of the abductors and their prisoner Sunday night.

There were no further developments in the case Sunday and no further communications to Mrs. Berg, who received a special delivery letter early Saturday morning, mailed at East St. Louis, Ill., purporting to have been written by Berg. It instructed Mrs. Berg not to worry, to get money ready to pay ransom for Berg's return, and said he expected to be back in several days.

No amount of money was specified. A report the kidnapers had demanded $100,000 in a letter to a friend of Berg's was denied. Chief of Police Gerk, who is directing an intensive hunt for the kidnaped man and his abductors, said the police had come to the conclusion the letter to Mrs. Berg was not written by the fur dealer.

Huge Road Project Proposed By Norris

Federal Program to Aid the Unemployed Is Announced

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A three billion dollar federal road program was proposed Monday by Senator Norris of Nebraska, leader of the Republican Independents to meet unemployment. The Nebraska would raise funds by long term bond issues and pay off these by an increased higher bracket of income taxes.

He proposes a gigantic program instead of charity but says if charity is necessary the government should meet its share.

1932 Expense of Hempstead Co. to Be Fixed Monday

Quorum Court Convenes 10 A. M. for Annual Session

RECESSED AT NOON

Appropriation Battle Begins in Afternoon Session

The discussion of appropriations to carry on the Hempstead county government during 1932 began at 10 o'clock Monday morning when the Quorum Court met in annual session at the courthouse in Washington.

County Judge L. F. Higason appointed various committees from the attending justices to retire during the morning and report back at the afternoon session with recommendations as to the amount of money necessary to carry out the separate branches of the county administration through the coming year.

Afternoon Session

The court reconvened at 1:30 p. m., with the hearing of recommended appropriations, on which final action would be taken during the afternoon by the justices and the judge.

In previous years the county budget has balance at approximately $40,000. Judge Higason estimated during the summer, however, that local tax revenues had dropped sufficiently to require a cut of several thousand dollars in the 1932 budget now being drafted.

The two principal issues to come before Monday's session of the Quorum Court are county co-operation in the establishment of the Hope Municipal Court, and possible employment of county farm and county home demonstration agents.

Municipal Court Under the terms of the municipal court law, the county would share in both the expense and the income of this tribunal, applying to DeRoon township only.

Although there appeared little chance that either county agent's work would be restored at this term of the Quorum Court, representatives of the State Extension Service were to appear before the court late Monday afternoon as in past years.

From El Dorado came reports Monday that County Judge J. G. Ragsdale had recommended a budget discontinuing the agents in Union county, a move said to be necessary to save that county from defaulting on its installment payments on a $700,000 courthouse. The Union county farm agent is Lynn Smith, former Hempstead county agent.

W. C. T. U. Pageant Held Sunday Night

Baptist Church Was Filled to Capacity for Occasion

A young peoples service sponsored by the W. C. T. U. rendered a program to a packed house Sunday night at the First Baptist church of this city. Many who came late were turned away on account of there not being even standing room in the church.

This program was under the direction of Miss Lurline Moody of Little Rock, who has been connected with the W. C. T. U. organization for the past year.

The program "The Patriotic Wedding" was presented by the high school students. It was the marriage of Miss 18th amendment and Mr. Patriotic Citizen. Uncle Sam served as the minister. John Barleycorn, the uninvited guest, tried to break up the wedding ceremony, but did not succeed. Uncle Sam requested the officers, Law Enforcement, to arrest the outlaw. John Barleycorn was ushered out of the building and 18th Amendment and Patriotic Citizen were united in the sacred bonds of national wedlock. Presiding the ceremony, Miss Martha Winburn sang "I Love You Truly." The wedding party marched in to the music "America the Beautiful." The main characters in the pageant were: Helen K. Cannon, who was Miss 18th Amendment; Colburn Aubrey, Mr. Patriotic Citizen; Taylor Alexander, Uncle Sam; Edward Bader, John Barleycorn.

A prize was offered to the grammar school room having the most mothers and fathers present at the service. The third grade at Paisley school won the prize. Mrs. Theo Witt is the teacher. Miss Moody presented a picture "The Lone Wolf" to the group Monday morning.

Another prize was given to the boy and girl in Hope who talked to the most cigarette stubs. Each boy and girl was asked to put his right foot on the stub and say "Mr. Cigarette, I'm your master, you're not mine." These prizes were won by Douglas Cole of Oakesby school, who talked to 746 cigarette stubs, and Frances Yocum of Paisley, who talked to 543 cigarette stubs.

Prison to Lose Its Zoo Since 'Keepers' Are Gone

RALEIGH, N. C.—(P)—The state prison here lost two of its long term prisoners and now is going to lose its zoo because it has no one interested in the animals.

The zoo, containing a bear, a collection of wildcats, foxes and dogs, used to be a big attraction for those who visited the prison.

It was cared for by Otto Wood and Bill Campbell, both of whom were doing life for murder. Wood escaped and was shot down in an effort to recapture him. Campbell is fighting for life in a sanitarium.

The Editor Speaking—

Well, what's the Highway Department going to do about it? Five days have elapsed. There has been a political pow-wow here, but no action and no official statement. Now that we've called their hand, is the Highway Department afraid to say who played it? The facts printed on this page last Wednesday about an appointment by a state government that is responsible to the taxpayers and voters, demand either an apology or a justification. What's the matter? Are the boys in such a panic nobody can talk?

United States Cotton Crop Is 16,903,000 Bales

Second Largest in History With Arkansas Producing Largest Yield Ever Reported—Pickers Favored by Ideal Weather Conditions

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Favored by ideal weather, the south is picking a cotton crop of 16,903,000 bales, the second largest crop in the history and 619,000 above the yield indicated a month ago.

The Department of Agriculture attributed a large share of the increase in the November first report to the fact that the October allowance made for a greater than average potential loss of open cotton, but favorable weather made the losses smaller than anticipated.

Up to November 1, ginnings totaled 12,129,546 bales.

The indicated production for Arkansas is 1,860,000 bales which is more than 100,000 bales above the indicated yield a month ago and the largest crop in the history of the state.

Arkansas ginnings to November 1 totaled 1,036,162 bales.

Red Cross Quota Raised by B. & P. W.

People of Hope Urged to Subscribe Liberally to This Fund

The American Red Cross is in action. The annual campaign for membership is now under way and every business house and residence in Hope will be visited within the next few days. If you are inadvertently overlooked, do not fail your duty, but call some member of the American Legion or the Business & Professional Women's Club, and tell them your membership dues are ready.

Six weeks ago a representative of the American Red Cross was in Hope and appointed Ralph Routh general chairman of the campaign. They visited the American Legion and the Business & Professional Women's Club, asking that they sponsor the drive. They agreed to do so. Miss Mary Jones was appointed chairman within the B. & P. W. Club and reports that every member has paid their dues and the quota of that organization has not only gone over the top, but has advanced yet further, for their allotment has been oversubscribed. This is a record of which any group may well be proud.

It now remains for the citizenship of Hope to follow this lead. Have your money ready for the solicitors, and give as freely as this community received last year when "the great mother of humanity" spent more than $19,000 in cash in this county in drought relief work.

Twice within a decade has Hempstead county been the beneficiary of assistance from the American Red Cross in times of stress. They never had to wait to raise funds before coming to the aid of our sufferers. Their coffers were supplied as the result of just such drives as the one now under way, but they must be replenished from time to time if they are to be prepared to meet the needs of human-kind. You and your dollar are the motive power which activates the kindly impulses of this great organization.

Don't wait to be asked to give. Give, and give freely. During the World war we were told to give until it hurt. Now, we ask you to give until you feel good. Many would have gone to bed hungry last winter had it not been for the ministrations of the American Red Cross. Do without a meal or two, or more and advpr-vitless or some of the luxuries you daily enjoy this year. It will only give you balance your account for what was done for you and your neighbor when outside aid was rendered. Make this a Golden Jubilee indeed.

Chief Justice Hughes says: "The American Red Cross represents the united voluntary effort of the American people in the ministry of mercy. It is the best and most effective expression of the American heart." Give and alleviate the sufferings of others and make your own heart glad.

Gardiner Has Next Move in Naval Tilt

President Waits for Him to Publicly Apologize for Misstatements

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The next move in the controversy over President Hoover's naval policy is up to the man who started it.

The capital Sunday was digesting the unanimous and voluminous report of the Hoover five-man committee which held William Howard Gardiner, president of the navy league, had uttered "many inaccuracies, false assumptions and erroneous conclusions" in his blast against the administration.

Representative French of Idaho was the first to give his enthusiastic endorsement of the report. The president in silence is waiting for Gardiner to make a "public retraction of his misstatements and an apology" for criticism of the president including the now well known "abysmal ignorance" phrase.

Gardiner, in New York, has indicated he will study his report closely before saying anything. Friends of his here, unwilling to be quoted, doubted any apology would be forthcoming. Their attitude did not indicate that the Hoover committee report would be the last word.

The strictly political section of the capital kept silent too. Many leaders in congress, regardless of party or naval policy, have shown a belief that the entire controversy has been a mistake—an incident which should never have happened. Doubtless some of them may refer to it in the naval debates later on. But now they have other irons in the fire, more pressing issues to attend to.

Representative French, first exception in congressional ranks denounced Gardiner's attack on the president as "malicious." Chairman for the past eight years of the naval appropriation subcommittee of the house, French spoke the day after his return from the disarmament discussions at Geneva.

"No one can read the statement of Mr. Gardiner for the navy league and the report of the committee of which Mr. Hammond was chairman without realizing that Mr. Gardiner has a social desecration of the exclamation that they received," said French.

Should Gardiner refuse to apologize, he doubtless would consult with the executive committee which gave him a 7 to 1 vote of confidence in the controversy. That vote came an hour before the Hoover committee, composed of John Hays Hammond, chairman; Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired; Eliot Wadsworth, of Boston; Undersecretary Castle and Assistant Secretary Jahncke, started work.

The league committee might reconsider its previous action, but it had one indirect reference to the Hoover investigation in its statement then. It volunteered its own records to throw impartial light on the present naval policy. As it met it encountered the already formed general opinion that the Hoover group would describe as false much that Gardiner had said.

Lone Highwayman Robs Standard Oil Company of $126

Clifford Franks Forced to Open Safe at Point of Pistol

IS TIED BY BANDIT

Car Stolen From Residence Believed Taken by Same Man

A lone highwayman held up and robbed the Standard Oil company here early Monday and escaped with $126 in cash. The robbery occurred about 7 o'clock.

Clifford Franks, truck driver, an employee of the company, had left the office and gone to a garage near by for his truck when he was approached by the bandit, who at the point of a pistol, relieved Franks of $12. His personal money.

He then forced Franks to go into the office and open a safe where he secured $114 in cash and a $200 check. After getting the money, he bound Franks' hands behind him and forced him to lie down on the floor. He then tied Franks to a gas pipe and escaped.

Franks was released a few minutes later by F. E. Johnson, local manager of the Standard company, who arrived at the office soon after the robbery occurred. The bandit was a young man about 25 years old, unmasked and wore a suit of blue overalls.

Car Is Stolen

Shortly after the robbery, a Ford truck was reported stolen from in front of the home of Harry Hawthorne, on North Hervey street.

Officers believe the same bandit is responsible for both thefts. At noon today, no trace of the fugitive had been found, but the truck, which is the property of Moore & Hawthorne, market was found abandoned by a posse of officers and citizens at Gunter Hill, nine miles west of Hope on the old Fulton highway.

Citizens along the road saw the truck was driven by a white man, although an accurate description of the driver could not be learned, but thought however, to be the same man who robbed the Standard station.

A posse of officers and citizens have been stationed in the vicinity of Gunter Hill and all roads are being guarded. It is expected by local officers that the man will be captured before Monday night.

Cruelty To Child Stirs Prosecutor

20-Year Prison Terms Are Facing Washington Paper Hanger and Wife

WASHINGTON.—Lester N. Riley, Washington paper hanger, and the stepmother he provided for his three children are slated for a 20 year term in the penitentiary as a penalty for their four-year incarceration of his 13-year-old daughter, Edith, in a dark closet, District Attorney Leo F. Raker who put the inhuman cruelty case before a grand jury, said Sunday.

"The grand jury finds that the cruelty was practiced in the case of a mentally deficient child, the indictment may call for a 20-year punishment and the Riley's own explanation of the extraordinary treatment of the child seems to convict them," said Raker after the grand jurors talked with the maltreated girl at the Gollinger hospital.

Scarcely able to see as a result of her long sojourn in the darkened closet—her only home for four years—and barely able to talk after her four years away from human contacts, the frightened child covered before the members of the grand jury. Their questions elicited nothing but sobs from her.

That trip to the hospital was made to aid the grand jurors in determining the mental state of the youngster. Such treatment for a normal child calls for only three years imprisonment for the parents if they are found guilty.

Questioning of little Edith disclosed that during the past three years there was just one occasion on which she was permitted the luxury of a walk out in the air and sunshine. Her 12-year-old brother, Francis, told how he used to smuggle food to his unfortunate sister who was consigned to a closet when she should have gone to a hospital.

The grand jurors also were shown a photograph which showed the emaciated Edith to have been a strong sturdy child at the age of four when her father acquired his second wife. The second Mrs. Riley had cited the child's lack of control as justification of her incarceration.

St. Louis Paper In Its New Plant

Globe Democrat Moves for Fourth Time Since Its Founding

ST. LOUIS—(P)—Between publication of the Sunday edition and the beginning of work on the Monday's edition, the Globe-Democrat moved into its new $2,500,000 home on High street and Franklin avenue. The newspaper's new home, which is its fourth since the founding of its parent newspaper, the Missouri Democrat, in 1852, was under construction since March, 1930.

The new building occupies a city block and is six stories high, embracing 275,300 feet of floor space. It embodies an intensive study of modern newspaper plants in all of the larger cities of the country by E. Lansing Ray, president of the company and a director of the Associated Press, Douglas B. Houser, vice president, and W. C. Houser, secretary-treasurer. Over the main entrance are two striking reliefs, one showing the old-time printer, tugging at a hand press, the other a mechanic amid the webs and cogs of a modern printing press. A sculptured owl, the only other ornament, is emblematic of the night workers, whose products has greeted the eyes of awakening St. Louisans for more than three quarters of a century.

The engineer, who was injured seriously in an automobile accident several months ago, told the woman that his health would not permit marriage. She then went into a bathroom, Egli told police, and a moment later he heard the report of the pistol. The coroner gave a suicide verdict.

Robbers Rescued By Police Squad

Brooklyn Dance Hall Patrons Injure Seriously Two Hold-Up Men

NEW YORK—(P)—Police Sunday rescued two bandits who tried to hold up about 100 couples in a Grand avenue public dance hall in Brooklyn. Both were arrested but one was in a serious condition when taken to a hospital and the other was badly battered. The two men, flourishing revolvers, crashed the gate of the Fernleaf Club, and ordered the couples to line up. The dancers thought at first it was part of the entertainment, and complied laughingly. But after several patrons had been robbed, the thing grew serious and with a well directed blow of the knee, John Capestro, a patron, floored one bandit. The band struck up "Give Me Something to Remember You By" and the dance turned into something resembling football scrimmage, as the guests piled on top of the bandits, who yelled "help police." At the police station one said he was John Svoda, 21. Fingerprints taken at the hospital showed the other to be Leo Sidowski, 28.

AT THE THEATER

Heading the program at the Saenger Theatre starting Tuesday is "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of the Edward Knoblock stage success, "The Lullaby," with a cast that includes Helen Hayes, Lewis Stone, Neil Hamilton, Robert Young, Cliff Edwards, Jean Hersholt, Marie Prevost, Karen Morley and others.

Miss Hayes, who makes her first appearance on the screen in this picture, is the young actress who recently scored on Broadway in "Petticoat Influence," and previous to that play, created an enviable reputation for her work in "Cognette," "What Every Woman Knows," "Dear Brutus" and "Mc Gilchrist." She portrays the young French girl, Madelon Claudet, who makes a fatal mistake when she elopes to Paris with a young artist and is soon after involved in the scandalous arrest of a jewel thief who has befriended her.

The thief is played by Lewis Stone who makes an abrupt departure in this role from his suave and poised characterizations of "Romance" and "Inspiration." It is the first time Stone has played a criminal, the nearest he has ever come to it being the disreputable lawyer of "The Secret Six."

As the artist who deserts the heroine, Neil Hamilton is cast in a role less sympathetic than those of "Strangers May Kiss" or "This Modern Age," thus giving him an opportunity to prove a hitherto little revealed versatility.

Cliff Edwards and Marie Prevost, as a newly married couple who are constantly at each other's throats, provide many of the laughs in the picture. Comedy lovers know what to expect of both Edwards and Marie Prevost, who recently scored outstanding portrayals in "Sidewalks of New York" and "Sporting Blood," respectively.

"The sin of Madelon Claudet," which is an adroit combination of romance, comedy and melodrama, tells the story of Madelon, who runs away from home with Larry, an American artist, in order to avoid marrying an unattractive man of her father's choosing. When Larry unexpectedly deserts her and their infant son, Madelon gains the friendship of Count Boretti, a man of unlimited means.

The Count and Madelon are about to be married when Suzanne, a former flame of Boretti, exposes him to the police as a notorious jewel thief. Madelon is implicated in the charge and is thrown into prison. When she comes out she becomes a wanderer, always seeking her boy, to whom she dares not reveal her identity because she has been a jailbird. The eventual reunion of mother and son provides an engrossing and stirring climax to the story.
